Gathmann's Sectional Telescope and Astronomical Theories.

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Sept. 28 .- Before a company of twenty-five or more friends and COPENHAGEN, Sept. 28.—Andrew D. neighbors, who met at his residence last White, the United States Minister to night, Louis Gathmann exhibited a model of his sectional lens telescope to-day with King Christian. Mr. and He also answered the objections made Mrs. White subsequently dined with His by Astronomers Hale and Burnham to his announcement that he had discov ered what seemed to be signs of vegetation on the moon. In answer to the objection that astronomers with excellent telescopes had never seen a green spot on the moon. Mr. Gathmann said:

coentric lady, who died recently, has this fact. First, no first-class telescopes were in use for making observations the night I saw the spot. Second, if obserations were made the telescopes were inferior to mine."

Mr. Gathmann said his sectional lens had been examined by Prof. Colbert, who said it had excellent definition and would prove of great interest to the whole scientific world. Many eminent engineers had pronounced the sectional lens instrument superior to any instrument of the same size.

"A 20-inch-built-up lens," said Mr. Gathmann, "with clear glass of even density, will be equal in proven to any telescope that has a 40-inch solid lens."

any telescope that has a 40-inch solid lens."

He then spoke of his observation of a green spot on the moon as follows:

"About 9 o'clock in the evening of Aug.

The plaintiff alleges that on Sept. 4, 1834, he, in company with his wife, went into the restaurant at Sixty-seventh street and Western Boulevard, and that the defendant accused the plaintiff of having beaten his wife.

Mrs. Reiss indignantly denied the statement. Toner, it is alleged, started towards Mrs. Reiss, as if to assault ther, and Mr. Reiss stepped between them.
